

I am recruiting for a client in Chatsworth, CA. They will pay for relocation, if necessary. My client is the largest privately held data storage infrastructure manufacturer in the world and they are experiencing tremendous growth. Currently, they are looking for a candidate that has a strong background in Supply Chain / Warehousing / Inventory management that is also qualified as a technical/functional resource for Oracle's Supply Chain modules.

Here is the job description, if you'd like to take a look:

<http://resourcewranglers.com/open-jobs/oracle-functional-analyst-operations-southern-california/>

The ideal candidate would be someone who transitioned from a Supply Chain Operations role into a technical role. They would also love to have someone that is CPIM certified - therefore, my email to you.

I would welcome the opportunity to connect with your members, if there are any in your chapter looking for an opportunity such as this.

Any insights, ideas or suggestions you have would be very welcomed.

Thanks in advance for your assistance!

Chantel

Chantel Kane-Krebs

resource wranglers

www.resourcewranglers.com

chantel@resourcewranglers.com

404-783-6854